

Marek M. Sipko

Ph.D. Emphasis: Occupational and Technical Studies
Human Resources - Training

Program Entrance Date: July 2007

Current Job: U.S. Marines Officer (Major)
Combat Operational Stress Control
Enterprise Architecture Officer

Projected Job: Subject Matter Expert, General Dynamics

Future Aspirations: Hoping to retire from active duty with U.S. Marines in 2009 or 2010. Would like to finish writing and defend my dissertation no later than 2010.

Previous Education

College(s)	Study Area	Degree(s)	Year
Naval Postgraduate School	Information Technology	M.S.	2006
National University	Business	M.B.A.	1993
National University	Business	B.B.A.	1989

Presentations

Influence of Socio-Economic Status on Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder in Combat U.S. Military Veterans, Combat Operational Stress Control International Conference, San Diego, 2008.

Publications

Testing Template and Testing Concept of Operations for Speaker Authentication Technology, STAR, 44(26), 58.

Combat Operational Stress Control: Prevention through Training and Education. Marine Corps Gazette, Professional Journal of U.S. Marines, 92(11), 77-80.

Technology can help with Combat Operational Stress. Proceedings, U.S. Naval Institute, Independent Forum on National Defense, 134(11), 1,269, 70-72.

Professional Organizations and Committees

Selection Committee, U.S. Marine Corps, Officer Special Education Program, 2007

Awards/Achievements

Department of Defense Joint Achievement Medal

Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medal

Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medal

2009 ODU Graduate Fellowship

