Sample Annotation for Graduate Students

The findings in this report on what students believe about work support previous research. These studies of students in vocational education revealed that post-graduation plans and educational level of the mother were associated with significant differences in student perceptions toward career knowledge and success. They also showed a significant relationship between grades usually earned and school-to-work awareness.